SLHF NEWS

• SLHF Website

The new website has already attracted some new members and additional sales for the journal Scottish Local History.

As the website develops and is used by more people, we are refining some of the contact information. We now have the facility for people to submit news items, projects, and requests for help with their projects online, rather than via the enquiry form. This makes it easier for us!

So to contribute news please use:

<http://www.slhf.org/node/add/article>

To add a project, use:

<http://www.slhf.org/node/add/project>

The enquiry form can still be used for getting in touch with us on anything else.

Exhibitions should also be added as events.

<http://www.slhf.org/node/add/event-member-societies>

Do let us know about all the displays and activities libraries, archives, museums and heritage bodies are organising this summer. And all local history organisations can raise their profile by completing the form at <http://www.slhf.org/node/add/member-society>

• Trinity House visit

SLHF have organised a visit to Trinity House of Leith on Friday 2 May 2014. As well as a visit to this remarkable building and a chance to see the collections, Eric Graham will give a talk on The legendary Leith smacks, and to put the visit in context there will be also be a local history walk around old Leith.

The Booking Form is attached to this newsletter.

CONTACT DETAILS

'Clish-clash' means repeated gossip, so do email your local history news & information (Word attachment or link to your website) to <http://www.slhf.org/node/add/article>

General enquiries: <http://slhf.org/contact-slhf>

The newsletter is available on our website for anyone to see, but if you are a member we shall also send it by email. For members only: To receive notification of the newsletter by email, or to be removed from the mailing list, choose Sign up for our newsletter on the website contacts page.

CAN YOU HELP?

• Help to collect history

The National Library of Scotland (NLS) is 'Collecting the Referendum' and needs your help to collect local items. If you have, or know about anything produced in your area, please get in touch. These could be leaflets, posters, newsletters or flyers, and nothing is too small to be of interest. They can be in print or digital format, and information about local blogs, websites, or Facebook pages will be especially useful.

We can only collect and archive what we find out about, so your information now can make a real difference to how good our collection will be. After the Referendum much of this unique material could be thrown out or deleted, making it too late to save. If you can help, please contact Jennifer Giles (0131-623-4661 or email j.giles@nls.uk).

Thank you for your help.

• Help with information on hutting sites.

Lesley Riddoch is researching a PhD – supervised jointly by Strathclyde and Oslo universities – which compares the hut traditions of Norway and Scotland and aims to explain why hutting communities in Scotland have struggled to survive. She is keen to hear from anyone with information about the origins and demise of Scotland's major sites and of major caravan sites like Seton Sands which were once hut sites. If you know about hutting sites in your area, or lived or spent holidays in these sites, please contact lesleyriddoch@gmail.com

The next issue of Scottish Local History will have more information about this research.

• MESH (Mapping Edinburgh Social History) held a meeting for representatives of local history societies around Edinburgh on 26 February, to introduce their 3-year project and seek help on finding out more information about the city, perhaps from previous research or new research by local historians. They are keen to hear from anyone who has information and data which might contribute to the project. For more information about topics which might be of interest see

<http://www.mesh.ed.ac.uk/joomla/index.php/objectives> or contact mesh@ed.ac.uk.

LIBRARIES, ARCHIVES & MUSEUMS

• Local History Week runs from 1-8 March 2014. Each year libraries in Scotland focus on a common theme in local history and build events around it. This year there was an embarrassment of riches of possible themes, with the anniversary of World War 1 and the Homecoming and Commonwealth Games. For example East Dunbartonshire has a varied range of activities – see their website for an excellent brochure detailing exhibitions, talks, and other events. <http://www.edlc.co.uk/pdf/Local%20History%20Week%202014-lo%20res.pdf>

• Sybil Cavanagh of West Lothian Libraries writes: The Local History Library has been decanted to Linlithgow Branch Library at The Vennel, High Street, Linlithgow, EH49 7EX. The decant is expected to last till about summer 2014 while alterations are carried out on County Buildings. Some of our stock has gone into store, so it would be advisable to contact us before your visit, so that we can look out the items you want to consult and have them ready for you. West Lothian Libraries Archives and Museums are cooperating to run a history fair in May and there will also be an event on 2nd August on the First World War.

• NLS Map Library has offered workshops on Maps for family and local history and Introduction to maps at NLS for some time and is now introducing new quarterly workshops on using the NLS map images website and modern digital map resources. The first is on 18 March. Find out more at <http://www.nls.uk/events/readers-workshops>

EXHIBITIONS

• Cupar Heritage Centre will stage two special displays this year: the impact of the First World War and the 125th Anniversary of Bell Baxter School.

Guthrie Hutton writes:

Space in the Heritage Centre is tight, so to accommodate these displays, the semi-permanent Story of Cupar exhibit will be reduced, a difficult task compounded by the addition of two prison cell doors. Donated by Fife Council, the doors came from the recently demolished former Police Station. They are big and heavy, but are a good way to illustrate the importance of law to Cupar.

Other artefacts that will have to be shown are a time capsule and contents. Buried in 1897, the capsule was unearthed late last year, when the town's Mercat Cross was moved to make way for road improvements. These and other additions mean that the Heritage Centre, which is situated in an old staff cottage at Cupar Station, is starting to overflow. The station staff and First ScotRail have been very helpful in identifying storage space and it is hoped to get access to this shortly.

Although not yet fixed, this year's opening times are likely to be similar to last year when the centre opened in mid April, Wednesdays 2.00pm – 4.30pm, Saturdays 10.00am – 1.00pm and Sundays 2.00 – 4.30pm. Details will be confirmed on the website: www.cuparheritage.org

• The Family at War. To commemorate the anniversary of World War I, Blair Castle will present a display from their collections of the contribution made by the 7th Duke and his family to the war effort. 1 April-31 October.

- Hunterian Museum, Glasgow. Exhibition 14 March-15 June: Scottish Gold.

WEBSITES

- Explore geo-referenced maps viewer. NLS have added a new side-by-side viewer for geo-referenced maps (digitised historical maps which have been linked to Ordnance Survey grid references). This enables easier comparison of those historical maps which have been geo-referenced.

<http://maps.nls.uk/geo/explore/sidebyside.cfm>

The programme of georeferencing historical maps is on-going and volunteers are welcome.

<http://maps.nls.uk/projects/georeferencer/>

- The Scottish Screen Archive have added a new DVD shop to their website, which offers a selection of material in pre-curated DVDs. Going to the pictures: Scotland at the cinema is a recent addition. <https://auth.nls.uk/shop/ssa/> There are several titles in their series Scotland in the Past: remember when...

Entertainment

Glasgow's landmarks

The journey of life

Bo'ness children's fair

St Kilda tapes

The Home Front in Scotland: World War 2.

SSA have also improved the ways you can search and browse in their online catalogue.

<http://ssa.nls.uk/search.cfm>

- Mapping history. The National Library of Scotland has collaborated with Archaeology Scotland to produce a website for schools about map interpretation. Aimed at upper primary and lower secondary this includes a video, urban and rural case studies, activity sheets, game and information for teachers. <http://digital.nls.uk/mapping-history/>

WHAT'S ON (March-May 2014)

Find information provided by member societies about many more talks and events on the SLHF website.

'Upcoming Events' lists them in date order. <http://slhf.org/events>.

The 'Calendar' gives a daily, weekly, monthly or annual indication of events. <http://slhf.org/calendar-node-field-date>.

Both link to details of the society and a location map.

The inclusion of societies' programmes in the What's On section of the newsletter is an interim arrangement as the SLHF website now enables societies and organisations to add their own events to the calendar. Many thanks to those who have already done so. These include:

Dollar History Society
Drymen & District Local History Society
Elie & Earlsferry History Society
Fala, Soutra & District Heritage and History Society
Kinross-shire Historical Society
Kirkcudbright History Society
Milngavie & Bearsden Historical Society
The Tweeddale Society

Visit to TRINITY HOUSE OF LEITH and the SHORE Friday 2 May 2014

Tucked behind a tired shopping centre at the foot of Leith Walk is a small architectural gem – Trinity House of Leith. Although the origins of the Incorporation of Masters and Mariners date back to 1380, the present building was built in 1816 and came under the care of Historic Scotland in 2001.

Upstairs the grand Convening Room offers a spectacular plaster ceiling and a fascinating collection of artefacts, navigation instruments, paintings and maritime memorabilia donated by Trinity House members over the centuries.

As well as the opportunity to tour the building, there will also be a talk on the Leith smacks and an informal local history walk around old Leith. If you do not wish to walk, you may join the visit for the afternoon only.

Places are limited so do book early.

TRINITY HOUSE OF LEITH & the SHORE

Booking form (to arrive before 24 April)

Please reserve places for

..... members @ £5 = £.....

..... non-members @ £10 = £.....

I enclose a cheque for £..... payable to Scottish Local History Forum and stamped addressed envelope or email address (for confirmation).

Send to: SLHF Administrator, Box 103,
12 South Bridge, Edinburgh EH1 1DD.

I do not wish to join the walk around Leith

PROGRAMME

MORNING

10.30 As Trinity House does not have catering facilities, and has limited toilets, we shall meet for coffee and refreshments at a restaurant nearby – not included in price.

Walking tour for just over an hour, around old Leith, now an attractive and vibrant area, which has undergone considerable renovation over the last few years.

Lunch break for about an hour at the Shore beside the Water of Leith. There are many different eating places offering varied lunches from snacks to restaurant meals. Lunch is not included in the price.

AFTERNOON

Tour of Trinity House and collections, led by Historic Scotland staff.

Talk by Eric Graham: The Legendary Leith Smacks, c.1800-1860.

We aim to finish about 15.30 -16.00.

This timetable is approximate – timings will depend on the number of participants. Final arrangements (including map and information about parking and buses) will be circulated with your confirmation.

However it may be useful to know, when planning your journey to Edinburgh by public transport, that buses take about 15 minutes from east end of Princes Street - near Waverley Station (22) or York Place - near Bus Station (16) and both have 6 services per hour.
